The addon is based on the concept of "Find and Replace". It means that the user would like to extract the information from a given word/excel document and then automatically insert it into the content of a OneNote notebook. The information in the content of a Word document is represented as "Tags" and in the content of an Excel spreadsheet as "Rows and Columns". Furthermore, the position of each item in the document has been saved, so that the results can be found using the search feature. Saving the results in a new OneNote notebook makes the next time it is very easy for the user to find the right location by just typing the search terms. Furthermore, the user can save and share the resulting OneNote file with others.
