Bulk SMS Professional is an advanced software application that allows you to create a database with phone numbers and send to all of them a user-defined text message. You are offered step-by-step guidance when it comes to helping you set up your mobile phone. The tool asks you to select your mobile device, namely GSM, Android, or Microsoft Windows. It automatically locates your device connected to the PC, provides information about it (name and details), and allows you to send a test message to a custom phone number. Different sending modes Bulk SMS Professional gives you the possibility to choose between two different modes for sending messages: single-shot and one-by-one contact processing mode. The first one allows you to queue a complete list of phone numbers to your mobile device (you need to keep your phone connected to the PC until messages are sent to the complete list). The second mode enables you to execute each phone number individually, while offering support for an advanced delay delivery feature. Recipient numbers, message composer, and filters The tool lets you build up a list with phone numbers, send messages that contain non-English (Unicode) characters, as well as skip duplicate numbers. You can make use of the built-in message composer for typing the messages directly into the primary panel or pasting them from other third-party tools. Additionally, you can make the utility reset all information with just one click. A smart featured embedded in this tool allows you to create an exclusion list with contacts or groups that are skipped when sending messages in a bulk mode. Importing and exporting options You can load the contact data from TXT, XLS, or XLSX file format or paste it from other documents, import contact numbers and their respective SMS texts directly from XLS file, as well as create dynamic and personalized messages for each contact based on the details included in the XLS files. What's more, you are allowed to export the list with numbers and text messages to XLS or XLSX file format, and save sent messages as templates, so you can easily upload them in your future projects. An overall efficient app All in all, Bulk SMS Professional comes with the necessary features for helping you send group text messages from PC using any USB Modem, GSM, Android, or Windows based mobile phones, and is suitable for rookies and professionals alike. What's New In?

Stockholders and board members do not see the revenue side of the business. A lot of organizations don't have anyone on the payroll or at least within their team to support the idea of 'what if we were just an option to a competitor?' This is where you have to make a conscious effort to work on improving your sales team capabilities, but the hard truth is, most of you work in silos. You operate with the general manager. They operate with the sales manager. The person that is actually running the sales team is somewhere in the middle. If you have the right people, they can help bridge the gap between the top and bottom, and the entire company can collectively grow faster. Here are five ways you can make sure your sales team is part of the bigger picture. 1. Build a sales management team Don't be intimidated by sales management. Sure, they seem intimidating at first glance. They are there to make sure that the sales team is performing, that the product team is aligning, and that customer service is trained and ready to assist any customer. The sales management team is also there to create a strategy, align sales objectives with the company goals, and ensure the entire team is working together. 2. Ensure sales management visibility If you want to have sales management involved in the process, then you need to make sure it is visible to the people making the decisions. Sales management needs visibility into the sales team's strengths, weaknesses, and capacity to close deals. Look at how you can give them this visibility. 3. Have a "metrics-driven" sales process Sales management has a team who is looking at the metrics they are driving and the reasons for the success of these metrics. When you understand the metrics you are using, you can work on improving them. You can also spot any bottlenecks and work on creating a solution that will reduce the need for a sales manager to drive the sales team. 4. Use a sales management tool Sales management is responsible for the performance of the team and can play a big role in creating an environment where there is alignment. A sales management tool lets the people at the top of the company understand how their team is doing, as well as making the day-to-day management easier. 5. Ensure a sales management scorecard Sales management can play a big role in helping your sales team understand their performance and the effectiveness of their sales process. A sales management scorecard lets them track their progress. These are best measured by sales performance, which can be tracked via a variety of metrics. That is why Salesforce is a potent force for most companies. It gives them a robust platform for collecting data from all departments and gives them a centralized platform to analyse that data
