I started my questing in Sunwell, killing the two solo quests, and finally joining the other three. I've now tried two different sets of pants but am just not sure if it's been long enough for my legs to heal enough to wear them. The only problem is that my encounters seem to be at a high enough level to wipe, so I have to keep either party healing me or running back out of the battle. I'm at 81, 95, 68, 75 on a tanking set of pants. I also had a few leg patches applied to help on my questing, the only problem with those is they only last 3 days. Anybody else have this problem? I'm at a complete standstill at this point. I just can't remember when my legs were broken. It's probably about 6, 8 months ago, but I don't know when it started happening... it may have even started before that, I can't remember. Does anybody know if this happens to anybody else besides me? I've read all the other people asking for help about various nerfs, but they all seem to have different builds or different gear sets, so I'm not sure they can help.
