Review: Selection: 0 Backup: 0 Interface: 0 File Conversion: 0 Database Management: 0 Application Satisfaction From the customer surveys we receive on Software Advice, over the years we have seen that most of our customers are running older software. This is hardly a surprise given that newer versions of the software are not free and tend to be expensive when compared to older versions. In this survey, most of our customers were running older versions of Microsoft Office than we have available. Surprisingly, the most popular Office suite was Excel. Perhaps people find it easier to use Excel than Word or PowerPoint. Out of all of our Microsoft Office products, the tool most users use the most is Microsoft Access. This makes sense given that it is often used by systems that are considered to be on the smaller side, such as a local Access
