A relatively large number of biocides are used in hospitals and day-care centres. In a previous study, we showed that ammonia and formaldehyde inhibited the nasal immune response to nasal influenza virus in man. Here we investigate the effect of some biocides on nasal immune response to inactivated influenza virus. In a double-blind study, 66 healthy adult subjects (42 men and 24 women), aged 22 to 74 years, were randomly assigned to seven groups of 11 each. Each subject inhaled 3.85×10^9 TCID₅₀ of inactivated influenza virus twice in the nasal cavity on separate days during the experiment. Subjects were randomly assigned to one of seven biocides or to negative control. Two subgroups were assigned to two different dose levels of each biocide. Subjects were given four visits during the experiment. On visit 1, subjects received one of the biocides at a low dose (0.9 µL per nostril, approximately 1.15×10^7 TCID₅₀), and on visit 2 they received the biocides at a high dose (5.4 µL per nostril, approximately 1.5×10^8)

Adenylate cyclase is responsible for the formation of cyclic AMP and of cyclic GMP. In order to test the hypothesis that cyclic AMP may mediate the control of the secretion of acute phase proteins, we have developed a cellular model for the study of the influence of the cyclic nucleotides on the synthesis and secretion of the proteins involved in the process of acute phase in mammals. The data obtained by this cellular model have demonstrated that dibutyryl cyclic AMP inhibits the secretion of the proteins involved in the acute phase process. A German court has declared Facebook's popular hashtag, #JusticeForGroepje, "unconstitutional," making it the world's first targeted ad campaign that has been barred by a judge. The Gueckwitz family has been trying for more than a year to stop the social network's use of the hashtags to promote a campaign. Since the beginning of the month, Facebook has been placing paid "promoted stories" promoting the hashtag on the side of the page of the local newspaper Juedische Rundschau, which owns the rights to its name. Similar "promoted stories" promoting the campaign had already been present on the Facebook page of Juedische Rundschau. The Gueckwitz family, which owns the local newspaper, has been against Facebook's decision to run sponsored messages for a social movement that is running in parallel with their trial. In Germany, people often refer to court proceedings with "Groepje" by
