Features NEW "HyperMotion" Player Modeling for High-Quality Match Realism: Through motion capture data gathered from 22 real players while they played a complete, high-intensity football match, FIFA 22 introduces "HyperMotion" player modeling. Players now move more efficiently and adapt better to unpredictable situations. This technology for the first time brings a player's whole body into the equation, which allows for a more accurate representation of player actions and their movements on the pitch.

Combining Player Movement with High-Quality Animations: The new player model is the bedrock of the new animation system. It provides in-game feedback using multiple types of on-ball actions and animates players' movements in real-time. Players on the ball react quickly and intuitively to the ball while reacting to their immediate surroundings. Players adapt their movements depending on the scenarios and get more 'in the game' than ever before.
