The franchise has become one of the biggest sports videogame franchises in the world, alongside the Madden NFL franchise. FIFA is one of the greatest professional sports videogames ever created, with over 50 million copies sold to date. Why is FIFA so important? FIFA is a juggernaut in the sports world. Among current and former athletes, it is the most popular videogame sports franchise, and among all sports videogames, it has the highest Metascore of any game on Metacritic.com, more than double that of Madden NFL. It has sold over 80 million copies in total. Its highest-rated game, FIFA 07, shipped more than one million copies. It still sells very well, with approximately 3.5 million units sold in the last fiscal quarter. It has been the centerpiece of all EA SPORTS™ sports videogames for the last decade, and it is the top-selling EA SPORTS® videogame of all time. What do we mean by "Powered by Football™"? Powered by Football™ is a new EA SPORTS™ initiative to bring fun and exciting gameplay innovations to football, while also improving and polishing the best FIFA gameplay around. In the future, we plan to bring new gameplay ideas, such as improved features for physical play and more balanced skill movements, into football in the next few years. We believe that by improving the action on the pitch, while balancing with new and exciting social features that people expect from the most popular videogame franchise, we can bring new levels of fun and excitement to football. Where is FIFA headed? We announced today that FIFA 22 is being powered by Football. This new platform will focus on game experience over game features. We are focusing on gameplay in the new FIFA.
