In it, Earth is explored by the first civilization that exists on an orbiting space station, which has travelled to Earth from another star system. They note that Earth seems empty and desolate, and since they have no star to travel to, they decide to destroy the world. However, they consider the humans were never capable of space travel

Guide: From Novice to Champion Hello! The Promised One here~! I'm going to quickly publish the chapter where I explain the basics of the tournament in details. I'll split the information into two parts, the materials used to build a tower and the crafting rules. Before I begin, I would like to say that due to time constraints, I will be needing to publish the next two chapters of the tower guide (yay flexing!) later this week, so it will be written solely in Chinese. If you want me to translate the guide, let me know in the comments and be sure to say that you'd like it to be translated here. Getting Past the Base Tower Construction Basics Certain items like the beggar's bag or archer's quiver serve two functions. Their primary function is to provide the user with resources. They also serve a supplementary purpose that prevents them from being replaced once given out. This means that players are allowed to use the same item twice. Oftentimes these items will also be covered by a cap, so it'd be a waste of resources if you threw the item away before you can use it again. The question that you will need to ask yourself is whether or not the item can still be reused after it's been given away. There are three different methods of providing the resources in the tower. The first one is by salvaging. There are several types of items that you can salvage from the field, such as a donation box, a minigame item box, and more. Naturally, you can't use your abilities to directly salvage the items from the field (i.e., kicking a donation or the minigame item box), but you can still salvage it by attacking the item with your weapons and the resources will be automatically restored. You can also use the burst technique that can give out a large quantity of resources, such as a 10x10 begging backpack. If there are items you still haven't looted, you can also utilize a Greedy Cloud, a machine that will suck up all resources related to that cube. Just be careful if you decide to gamble on using a Greedy Cloud because if you fail, you still have to loot the rest of the world. There is a method that you can try which is to use a Beggar's Bag or a Begging Box to apply donation points, only instead of receiving a reward, it will just add to your earning rates. If you are
