(2009) Here is a video of myself playing this hackathon style game on the Xbox 360. It was created by Eric Crangle and Brent Nonnemacher. It's on the Xbox Live Indie Games Channel. Both the English and German versions are available. I've rerecorded the audio for the English version, as my own voice sounds too old. The soundtrack is from the awesome d4sound.com. I recommend you buy the Full Soundtrack CD. Also if you are an Xbox Live Indie Games fan, check out the other games I've done. If you'd like to watch the video on a website rather than a video file, click the lower control-center, then go to "Video" and then click "Replay Web Video".

Win Best Community Speech Some recommended further reading Eric Crangle - the creator of this game Brent Nonnemacher's website - the developer of the Red Algorithm game engine Great game! As a German developer, I have to say that English localization is very good. German culture of looping is a PITA because of the sentences that in them don't begin with a capital letter. But as a gamer, I can enjoy this game and other little fictions. Good work! Every character in the game has a sound wave he makes when he is about to speak, however you can expect to hear all that chatter. Each sentence is actually a sound wave made by several voices speaking at the same time. So as you can see this game heavily uses both the DirectX 11.0 and DirectSound API. There's about 2 hours of music in this game. There are about 7 regions and they all have their own "soundscape". If you want a specific sample or sample group of music, just email me through the email listed on the contact form. I'll provide you with the link to download it.

Please feel free to PM me if you want to track a specific sound or npc. I'll PM you back with the information. Here is a screencap for a part of the Random Long Island Point Here is a screencap for the Shiver Canyon The soundscape depends on what region you're in. Different regions have different themes. Some of them are rain forests, caves, arctic temperatures, lush greenery, and so on. Since each region doesn't have sound now different from the others,

Enjoy fast-paced multiplayer action in an adorable duck world! Battle all of your friends and other players on the field as you freely choose which equipment you want to use. In a number of different areas, you'll find training games to sharpen your fighting skills and weapons before you enter the battles. On the field, you can fight against other players as the enemies while battling ducks of your own breed. Get your ducks ready for battle! Meet Duck Saver, a special character to be found in this game. He will help you build a team with a selection of weapons. The three classes featured in this game are [Shooter], [Blade] and [Tank]. They each have their own strengths and weaknesses. You can select them at the start of each battle. Each class has 10 weapons to choose from. Different weapons use a different number of points to use. The points you have will influence the speed of your movements and the number of shots you can fire. Each weapon has a different range and weapon strength. If you've got a bow, it's going to be better than a cannon. Use a cannon to fire at short range, a slingshot to hit targets that are far away, and a lightning gun for special skills or high speed. There are no weak weapons. There are 16 costumes to select. Each costume lets you wear special outfits for your duck to sport during battles. Different costumes will give you bonuses when you use your weapons. For example, if you have a bow, it will give you special bonuses when you hit targets. By using different costumes during battles, you can change your duck's appearance. You can choose to have your duck wear a cool outfit, a cute outfit, a cowboy outfit, a hunter outfit, a superhero outfit, a leather outfit, or something else entirely. You can also earn money in all the multiplayer games that you play. When you use it to buy different items for your duck's equipment, they will be equipped for battles. You can also buy special bonuses for your duck, which can help you get through a tough battle. For example, you can buy [100% health] to give your duck a helping hand. In the training games, your duck will be given specific tasks that he needs to complete. To rank up, you'll need to complete quests. Quest and reward screens will pop up, and you'll need to complete them to unlock new areas and features. Are you ready to get your ducks wet?
