The burden is on the petitioner to show that the sentence is inappropriate, and that it meets the standard of In re Casper T. Wilkerson, 217 W.Va. 279, 617 S.E.2d 391 (2005). In determining whether the petitioner has demonstrated that his sentence is excessive, we consider the following factors: “(1) [t]he nature of the offense and the defendant’s role in the offense; (2) [t]he punishment the defendant already has served; (3) [t]he defendant’s prior criminal record; (4) [t]he likelihood that the defendant will commit another crime; and (5) [t]he defendant’s potential for rehabilitation.” Syl. Pt. 3, State v. Oliver, 144 W. Va. 740, 111 S.E.2d 330 (1960). On appeal, Petitioner argues that the circuit court erred when it denied him his right to effective assistance of counsel on several grounds. Initially, Petitioner contends that his trial attorney’s failure to object to the imposition of consecutive sentences was deficient performance. Petitioner also contends that he is entitled to a new sentencing hearing because his attorney failed to secure the services of a mental health professional in order to conduct an adequate mitigation hearing. Petitioner asserts that the circuit court refused to allow him to establish his mental condition, and that his attorney’s failure to request a neuro

The dish takes its name from "poil" referring to the small, de-skinned potatoes used to make it. Veau poil is also the name of a regional dialect in France, spoken in the departments of Lot, Marne and Haute-Marne. See also List of vegetable soups List of potato dishes List of soup dishes References Category: French soups Treatment of Staphylococcus aureus tinea pedis with once-daily desloratadine cream: a randomized, double-blind, vehicle-controlled study. The purpose of this study was to evaluate the efficacy and safety of once-daily desloratadine cream in the treatment of tinea pedis. In this double-blind, vehicle-controlled study, 60 patients with tinea pedis were randomized to receive treatment with once-daily desloratadine cream (5%, 10%, or 20% cream) or vehicle control. Efficacy was assessed at day 4 and day 14. Patients treated with desloratadine or vehicle had similar percentages of negative cultures for Staphylococcus aureus at day 4 (63% and 61% for desloratadine, and 82% and 79% for vehicle; P=0.3). At day 14, the number of patients with negative cultures for S aureus was higher in the desloratadine groups than in the vehicle group (89% to 100% vs. 69% to 72%, respectively; P
