I tried the following MATLAB command to get the file names, but it is not working. `listdir(fullfile('C:\Users\jithin\Desktop\B'))`; it is giving following error. Warning: File directory list not found Could you please tell me a working method to do this? A: As the documentation for `dir` command states: If the directory parameter is a string that contains a file name (for example, 'matlab'), then the file list that is displayed includes both files and directories. That means that `listdir(fullfile('C:\Users\jithin\Desktop\B'))`; does not give you any files. Use `dir(fullfile('C:\Users\jithin\Desktop\B'))`; instead. DESCRIPTION:(adapted from applicant's abstract): This is a competing renewal application to the NHLBI for a T32 training grant focused on the challenges of the cardiometabolic risk state in HIV-1 infected persons. The hypothesis to be tested is that this state is characterized by insulin resistance and increased inflammation and infection. The hypothesis is based on the recent identification of an increasing rate of type 2 diabetes in HIV-1 infected persons. The goals of the competing renewal application are to develop new physician and nurse scientists to improve understanding of the pathogenesis of this cardiometabolic risk state and to develop novel therapeutic approaches.
