However, defendant's reliance on the above case is misplaced since, as we have already stated, the superior court, in turn, must await a timely notice of appeal before proceeding to try the defendant in the County Court. (See fn. 3, supra.) Finally, it is true that many of the errors complained of, most being assertedly waived, were and could have been raised upon an appeal from the judgment of conviction. (6) However, the failure to do so cannot be taken advantage of by the People. (People v. Beatty, 124 Cal.App.2d 554, 560 [269 P.2d 851]; People v. Ramsey, 122 Cal
