You can make the kick tighter than you ever imagined, or give your snails an extra crackle. You also have a Sensitivity control to selectively shape transients... or you can simply use one of these special filters to modify your kick. Snails tend to be overexcited at low signal levels, so if you want a quieter sound, reduce these values. You can also use these settings to suppress noise and interference in your mix. How to Make Your Kick So, what do you need to make your kick? First and foremost, you'll need a snail.
