we still own the domain name, but we've been regularly updating and maintaining the servers to ensure they work as well as possible. we've been approached by a couple of sites, who were interested in buying the domain name but we're happy to keep it if you'd like it, or if you want to get your own domain name for your own site you can buy it from us via this link. we're an all-encompassing studio, with people working on a wide range of things and the clients we work for are varied and interesting, which means that we can be flexible in how we can help you. our aim is to be your technology partner, not just your game developer. we can provide you with technology that your game needs, we can create your game, and we can provide game marketing, sales, and pr. we can also help to test your game and give you the best advice on how to market it, plus we can help you with your game art, audio, and music.

we're a small studio, so we're not big on bureaucracy, we don't need a huge team to get things done and we have always worked very much with one or two people at a time.

this means that we're a flexible team and we're great at helping to make sure we can do whatever you need from us. we're very open, easy to get in touch with and we're very good at working in short cycles to get something done. ps store and ps now subject to terms of use and country and language restrictions. service availability is not guaranteed. for ps now on pc, minimum system requirements apply and can be found at www.playstation.com/psnow-pc-faq. ps now games may differ from or lack some of the features that can be found in downloaded or disc-based games. games included in ps now are subject to change at any time. approved payment method details required. ps now subscription is an ongoing subscription with a recurring subscription fee which is charged every month (at the then current store price).

for these reasons, one of the most important questions for any strategy that adopts a forward-looking approach to great power competition is how to ensure that policies have an appropriate response to global trends.²³ this is why having both a president and vice-president for strategy on the nac is such a vital part of this new deal. it allows the president to concentrate his attention on the big picture and to ensure that nac and its staff coordinate with executive-level staff to ensure that important strategic issues aren't simply deprioritized by agencies that are busy responding to the current political environment. as the trump administration braces for an increasingly difficult time ahead, the president will have to turn his attention more and more to keeping the national security apparatus coherent and productive. that's where nac leadership comes in. nac is made up of the most talented and dedicated people around. weve long thought that for our graduates to succeed in their mission and career paths, theyll need a different experience than they get at other institutions. thats why we made our summer fellows program a full-time, paid position. these fellows will work closely with us to better understand the strategic challenges and opportunities of the national security sector, including everything from national defense and foreign policy to cybersecurity and homeland security. theyll do that with us online via research, analysis, organizing, and writing. theyll also help shape nacs strategic priorities through workshops and other events, and theyll work on nacs flagship projects, including a policy-relevant research program we are launching this spring. 5ec8ef588b
