On January 18, 2020, the U.S. Sentencing Commission conducted public hearings to examine the crack cocaine sentencing disparity. The public held a standing room only crowd in the Commission's hearing room in Washington, D.C. that extended well into the hallway and additional seating was installed. Over 1,000 community members and law enforcement officers participated. The Commission heard testimony from 600 people in 30 states and Puerto Rico. This also served as the online hearings for those who couldn't attend in-person. One hundred sixty-two people spoke at the hearings on behalf of the law enforcement community in support of reducing the crack/powder disparity. The percentage of individuals arrested for crack cocaine offenses has been declining for over a decade, yet only 2% of people sentenced in 2019 for crack cocaine offenses were White. The crack/powder sentencing disparity allows prosecutors to choose between the harsher (crack) and the more lenient (powder) penalties for possession and sale of powder cocaine and crack cocaine. A single gram of crack cocaine is the equivalent of 200 times more crack cocaine than the same amount of powder cocaine. As part of the alert, FDA reminded healthcare professionals that their responsibility as prescribers is to monitor the use of pen devices for both safety and patient adherence issues. It also stressed that healthcare professionals should educate themselves on the proper use and disposal of pen devices by patients and their family members as well as training such patients on the proper use and disposal of insulin pens.
