
Your Virtual Snowglobe

Our team wanted to give you (the family) a sneak peek, so we figured, why not just do that virtual snowball using a VR headset? So, if you dont have a VR headset yet, now is your chance! Here is a video I prepared to demonstrate how it works. On this website, you will find experiences made possible by technologies such as virtual reality (VR) and augmented reality (AR). Students are invited to participate by sharing their own multimedia images from virtual worlds using the VR movie reel, for their own virtual snow globes. Your virtual snow globe is a shared space (“social object”) where you can showcase your creativity, explore the physical world, and connect with others. The physical world around us changes frequently. People, buildings, and landscapes change. We can always go on virtual tours to witness the changes ourselves. By sharing images of our own virtual lives, in this context we are creating a Virtual Meta-World. We are participating in this experience by creating our own virtual reality. The virtual weather conditions that took place during this experience highlighted the All-New 2019 Nissan Altima with available I-AWD technology that allows the vehicle to adapt and redistribute power regardless of road conditions. The different scenes were enhanced by audio transitions that include birds for sun and wind blowing for snow.
