Q: Gradient Overlay In ScrollView For a while I've been reading up on using a Drawable in Android to draw a gradient that is transparent over the background behind the screen to simulate an overlaying gradient (such as the ones you see on some window shades). What I need is to be able to apply this gradient while scrolling the screen. That's why I added a ScrollView to my layout. However when the ScrollView is added, the transparency no longer seems to work... Here's an image: The yellow areas are the parts that should be transparent, but aren't. I understand there is a flag `drawableInset`, and that it might solve my problem, but I couldn't manage to get it to work. The code I use to create the gradient drawable is this:

```
GradientDrawable gradient = new GradientDrawable();
gradient.setCornerRadius(10);
gradient.setColor(Color.parseColor("#FFFFFF"));
gradient.setStroke(2);
gradient.setStyle(Style.FILL);
gradient.setXForm(0f);
gradient.setYForm(0f);
gradient.setShape(GradientDrawable.RECTANGLE);
gradient.setAntiAlias(true);
gradient.setCornerRadius(4);
gradient.setGradientCenter(0.5f, 0.5f);
gradient.setGradientRadius(16);
gradient.setGradientXform(0.5f, 1.0f);
