Brain tumor is a heterogeneous group of brain tumors arising from the cell, which results in heterogeneity in therapeutic response and outcome. Reactive metabolic pathways are known to occur in normal and neoplastic cells. During tumor growth, oxygen availability, glucose concentration, redox state, and pH shift to more anaerobic levels and a Warburg effect is observed. Glucose transporter (GLUT) 4 expression is found to be the rate-limiting step for the transport of glucose. Indirect evidence suggests a role for GLUT4 in malignant transformation. We hypothesize a role of GLUT4 in the development and progression of brain tumors and make some predictions about the effect of GLUT4 ablation.Q: The type or namespace name 'CultureInfo' does not exist in the namespace 'System.Globalization' I'm trying to use a webservice with parameters "en-US", and I have this error : The type or namespace name 'CultureInfo' does not exist in the namespace 'System.Globalization' (are you missing an assembly reference?) I understand this is because the parameters, have to be formatted the same than the response, which is "en-US". I'm not the only one who have this problem, and the solution provided by Microsoft is to use [global::System.Runtime.CompilerServices.TypeForwardedTo("System

Carroll says he will have something to say about the national anthem situation and that he, too, will be concerned with it. Carroll spoke about the topic at his Monday press conference and appeared to hew to his own thoughts about what he has seen on the field during Sunday's win over the Dallas Cowboys. "I just think that when people are divided, it's an advantage for people in charge," he said. "And I just think that's wrong. And I know that's wrong. I know people are concerned.
